FORTY-MINTH CONGRESS.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL IN THE HOUSE.

An Interesting Debate, Covering a Variety of Subjects-Routine Business in Both Houses.

WASHINGTON, April 30 .- Smale .- On motion of Senator Vance the Senate took up the President's veto of the bill "To prevent the descration of graves." The bill relates to the District of Columbia and provides that the unclaimed bodies of deceased paupers, now required by law to be buried at the public experse, might be turned over to the medical colleges of the D strict of Columbia. The of the D strict of Columbia. The President decl ned to approve the bill en the ground that certain of its pro-visions were indefinite and did not supply sufficient safeguards.

After a short debate the Senate re-fused to pass the bill over the President's veto-yeas, 6; nays, 48.

dent's veto—yeas, 6; nays, 48.

The conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was submitted by Senator Dayis and concurred in by the Senate. Unanimous consent having been given on the request of Senator Pike that private claims on the calendar should be considered this morning that order was entered upon. morning that order was entered upon, not, however, without a mild protest from Senator Plumb in the interest of the posteffice appropriation bill.

Aiter some rurther debate, Senator

Plumb secured an understancing that at 4 o'clock on Monday general debate on the bill should cose. The Senate then adjourned until Monday.

The House

Mr. Hatch [Mo], on behalf of the the Committee on Agriculture, called up a resolution setting apart the 13th of May for the consideration of business presented by the committee Mr. Hatch stated that the measure upon which action would be asked was the oleomargarine bill. In response to questions he stated that though this bill was a revenue bill, the Commit ce on Agriculture would attempt to con-tine the amendments to the subject matter of the measure, and not allow them to extend to the tax on spirits and tobacco. The resolution was

Mr. Hatch also called up the bill ereating the Department of Agricult-ure, and the House proceeded to its consideration in committee of the whole, but the morning hour expired pending a controversy as to the limitation to be placed on the debate.

The House then went into committee of the whole (Mr. Mills [Tex] in the chair) on the river and harbor appropriation bill.

Mr. Warner [O] offered as smend-ment providing that the appropriation for the improvement of the Mississippi shall be expended under the direction of the Secretary of War, instead of the Mississippi River Commission, and providing for a Congressional Cammittee to investigate the work of the Mississippi River Commission.

Mr. Dunn [Ark.] defended the plan

Mr. Hepburn [la] thought that the Mississippi River Commission had wasted enough money, and it was now time for Congress to retrace its steps. Mr. King [Ls.] approved the plan of the commission, and defended the members of the commission from the charge of wastefulness.

Mr. Cutchins [Miss] favored the commission.

Mr. Hepburn declared that the plans of the commission had proved

Mr. Holman [Ind.] offered an amendment providing that the money appropriated for the lower Mississippi shall be expended in a continuance and completion of the work on the Plum Point and Lake Providence

Mr. Butterworth [O] maintained that the system of sevees was not necessary to the improvement of navigation. He did not believe even that the system tended materially to impove the navigation, but made that improvement incidental to the work of protecting the lands along the

Mr. Holman's amendment was reected-71 to 81-but it was rgreed that there should be a yea and nay yots upon it in the House.

Mr. Warner's amendment was also rejected.
Mr. Anderson [Kar.] moved to strike out the clause authorizing the building of levees if, in the opinion of the committee, it should be done as part of the plan to afford esse and safety to navigation. Lost—33 to 129. Various other amendments were offered and rejected.

A number of amendments were agreed to increasing the number of places where preliminary surveys may be made, and then Mr. La Folette [Wis.] moved to strike out the entire section having reference to this sub-No quorum voting, the committee rose and the House adjourned.

In the Committee Rooms. The House Committee on Labor today heard Representative Springer in support of the labor arbitration bill introduced by him last Monday, and which is in general in accordance with the message of the President on the subject. The members of the committee seemed favorable to a permanent arbitration commission, but the matter did not go far enough to indicate what action would be taken. The opinion was expressed by the committee that the principal features of the Springer hill would be incorporated in the bill new on the House calendar, to provide for the establishment of a department of agriculture and labor.

DRUNK OR SICK.

Edwin Booth's Queer Acting All the Talk in New York,

NEW YORK, April 30 .- The fall of Edwin Booth on the stage of the Academy of Music on Wednesday, and his peculiar conduct during the performance, were much talked about around the thesters yesterday. Sev-eral people who attended the per-formance ay that Mr. Booth's actions were wonderfully like there of a drunken man, and that the others on the stage hid Booth as much as they could during the last act. Many of the actors who stand around Fourteenth street and Union Square pro-fessed to know that Mr. Booth has become a heavy drinker of ite, and that his performances have been marred before. But Mr. Thayer, Booth's manager, said: "Booth had not been drinking. It was an attack of verigo, which unfitted him for work the rest of the performance. He went through it as well as a sick m in could.

Mr Chizz la, Salvini's manager, said that Booth's fail was parily Salvini's fault. "Booth had not been feeling well all day," he said," "but he had worked hard. I was with him most of the day, and I know he had not been drinking. He told me after the p'ay he had been so dizzy at times in the last set that he could not see."

Mr. William Sisham published a card in the Tribuae this morning stating that he was with Mr. Booth all Wednesday evening and during the performance was in Mr. Booth's dressing room. He denied most emphatically that Mr. Booth had been drinking, but states that the great actor was suffering from a severe bilicus atrack, and had been all day; and that it was only his great sense of his responsi-bility to the public that made him attempt his part.
